About this course · 课程简介

For	Anyone who wants to read their own BaZi chart on HECG.my without any Chinese or metaphysics background. Also useful for members who want to check a chart before booking an HECG master.
Tool	BaZi Chart 八字命盘 — hecg.my/bazi/
Prerequisite	None. Every term is explained the first time it appears.
Format	Five short modules, each with lessons, key points, a worked example and an exercise; then the step-by-step user manual.

By the end you will be able to

1. Cast a BaZi chart from a birth date, time, gender and birthplace, with true solar time switched on.
2. Name the four pillars, the Day Master and its element, and explain what each pillar stands for.
3. Read the strength result (strong, weak or balanced) and the favourable elements the tool gives.
4. Use the Ten God weights and the Pattern line to describe a person's natural strengths.
5. Tap through luck pillars, years, months, days and hours and read each one as Flow, Mixed or Hold.
6. Turn the Four Prescriptions and favourable elements into simple actions (化解 and 催旺).
7. Cross-check a BaZi lean with the BaZi Suite, Year Analysis and Wealth Report tools.

Modules

No.	Module	中文	You will
1	What BaZi is	什么是八字	By the end of this module you can explain in plain words what a BaZi chart is, why the birth moment matters, and the six key words the tool uses.
2	The building blocks on screen	命盘的组成	By the end of this module you can point to every row of the Four Pillars table and explain the Ten Gods, hidden stems and the five-element bar chart.
3	Reading the result in order	读盘的顺序	By the end of this module you can read the BaZi Chart result screen from top to bottom in the right order and explain each section in one sentence.
4	Using it for real decisions	八字的实际应用	By the end of this module you can use the BaZi Chart to frame three everyday questions: career direction, the timing of a plan, and how to work with a partner.
5	The HECG way: solutions and cross-checks	HECG 方法：化解与印证	By the end of this module you can turn a BaZi reading into a simple action plan and confirm it with two other HECG tools.

HOW TO USE THIS BOOK

- Main points first: read each module's goal and key points, then the lessons.
- Keep the tool open on your phone and repeat every worked example yourself.
- Answers to the exercises, and a glossary, are at the back. The User Manual (Part 2) is your quick reference afterwards.
- HECG informs; it does not rate, guarantee or recommend. Every reading is a lean plus a solution — the decision stays with you.

Pictures first: the ideas behind this tool

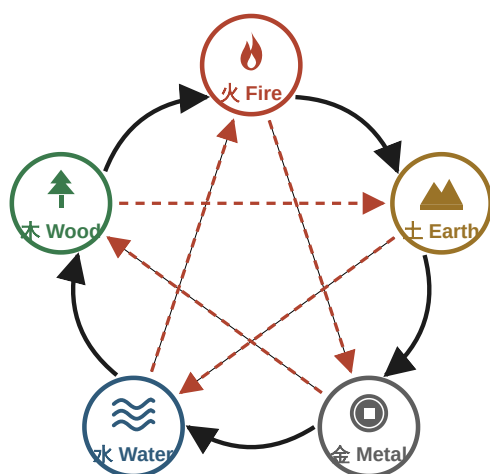

Yin and yang 阴阳

Yang (white) is active, bright, outward, rising. Yin (black) is quiet, dark, inward, resting. Each holds a dot of the other: nothing is pure, and balance keeps moving — day turns to night, effort to rest.

Every stem, branch, star or number in HECG tools is either yin or yang. Odd numbers and the first stem of each pair are yang; even numbers and the second are yin.

The five elements 五行 — one picture each

 木 Wood Grows and spreads Spring • East • Green In a chart: growth, planning, learning, kindness	 火 Fire Shines and rises Summer • South • Red, purple In a chart: visibility, energy, speaking, fame	 土 Earth Holds and stores Turn of each season • Centre • Yellow, brown In a chart: stability, trust, property, patience	 金 Metal Cuts and organises Autumn • West • White, gold, silver In a chart: rules, decisions, finance, precision	 水 Water Flows and adapts Winter • North • Black, blue In a chart: wisdom, networks, movement, ideas

How the elements move

Producing cycle 相生 (black arrows around the circle): Wood feeds Fire → Fire makes Earth (ash) → Earth holds Metal (ore) → Metal carries Water (condensation) → Water feeds Wood.

Controlling cycle 相克 (red dashed star): Wood breaks Earth • Earth dams Water • Water puts out Fire • Fire melts Metal • Metal cuts Wood.

Reading method: find the element you need (your favourable element), then look for what produces it to add support, and what controls its enemy to remove pressure. That is how HECG turns a reading into a solution.

Pictogram method: reading a chart in four steps

1. Find yourself. The top character of the Day column is your Day Master — your element.
2. Count the colours. Give every character its element picture; see which elements crowd the chart and which are missing.
3. Strong or weak? Many pictures of your own element and the one that produces it = strong; few = weak.
4. Pick the helpers. A strong chart is helped by the elements that drain or use it; a weak chart by the elements that feed it. The tool does this count for you and names them.

What BaZi is 什么是八字

Goal • By the end of this module you can explain in plain words what a BaZi chart is, why the birth moment matters, and the six key words the tool uses.

1.1 Eight characters from one moment

BaZi (八字) means 'eight characters'. It is a Chinese way of describing the moment you were born.

The moment is written as four pillars (四柱): Year, Month, Day and Hour. Each pillar has two characters, one on top and one below. Four pillars times two characters gives eight characters.

The top character is a Heavenly Stem (天干). The bottom character is an Earthly Branch (地支). There are 10 stems and 12 branches, and they repeat in a fixed 60-step cycle.

1.2 Why the birth moment matters

Each stem and branch carries one of five elements (五行): Wood, Fire, Earth, Metal and Water. So a chart is really a mix of five energies.

BaZi says the mix at your birth shows your natural style: what comes easily, what takes effort, and which years support you.

HECG uses this as information, not as a verdict. The chart shows a lean. You still choose what to do with it.

- Wood (木) grows and spreads.
- Fire (火) shines and warms.
- Earth (土) holds and stores.
- Metal (金) cuts and organises.
- Water (水) flows and adapts.

1.3 How the elements relate

Elements feed each other in a producing cycle (相生): Wood feeds Fire, Fire makes Earth, Earth holds Metal, Metal carries Water, Water feeds Wood.

Elements also control each other in a controlling cycle (相克): Wood controls Earth, Earth controls Water, Water controls Fire, Fire controls Metal, Metal controls Wood.

Every result in the BaZi Chart tool comes from these two cycles. When you see 'favourable' or 'avoid', the tool has worked out which elements help or press on your Day Master.

Element	Feeds	Controls
Wood 木	Fire	Earth

Fire 火	Earth	Metal
Earth 土	Metal	Water
Metal 金	Water	Wood
Water 水	Wood	Fire

1.4 Six key words you will see

These six words appear on the result screen. Learn them first and the rest of the chart becomes easy.

Word	Chinese	Plain meaning
Day Master	日主	The top character of the Day pillar. It stands for you.
Ten Gods	十神	The role each other character plays towards you, such as Wealth or Resource.
Strength	身强弱	Whether your Day Master gets enough support: strong, weak or balanced.
Favourable elements	喜用	The elements that help your chart most.
Luck pillar	大运	A ten-year period with its own pillar.
Flow year	流年	The pillar of a single calendar year.

✓ KEY POINTS TO REMEMBER

- BaZi = four pillars (Year • Month • Day • Hour), each with a Heavenly Stem on top and an Earthly Branch below.
- The Day Master (日主) is the top of the Day pillar, the third column. It is 'you'.
- Everything is built on five elements and two cycles: producing (相生) and controlling (相克).
- HECG reads the chart as a lean plus a solution, never as a fixed verdict.

WORKED EXAMPLE

Worked example: naming the parts of Demo Client Aina Tan's chart

1. Demo Client — Aina Tan, born 8 March 1992, 14:20, Kuala Lumpur, female. The tool shows her pillars as Year 壬申, Month 癸卯, Day 癸未, Hour 戊午.
2. Year pillar 壬申: stem 壬 (Yang Water), branch 申 (Monkey, Metal).
3. Month pillar 癸卯: stem 癸 (Yin Water), branch 卯 (Rabbit, Wood).
4. Day pillar 癸未: stem 癸 is her Day Master, Yin Water. Branch 未 (Goat, Earth).
5. Hour pillar 戊午: stem 戊 (Yang Earth), branch 午 (Horse, Fire).
6. So Aina is a Water Day Master. Water is fed by Metal and pressed by Earth, which is why those two elements will keep coming up in her reading.

Exercise 1

1. How many characters are in a BaZi chart, and how are they arranged?
2. In which column does the Day Master sit on HECG.my?
3. Which element feeds Water, and which element controls Water?
4. What does HECG mean when it says a reading is 'a lean, not a verdict'?
